1. Scope

The scope of this document encompasses the design, functionality, and user interactions for the Prabu Digital Portfolio — a self-hosted, interactive web application aimed at showcasing the professional achievements, skill sets, and project experience of Prabu Kalidoss. It enables recruiters, hiring managers, and peers to seamlessly explore his qualifications across various roles (Business Analyst, Product Owner, Project Manager, Agile Coach, etc.) through an intuitive, role-based navigation model.

This product includes:

- A Landing Page with navigational links to Projects, Product Demo, About Me, Contact, and role-specific pages.
- Interactive elements such as downloadable case studies, embedded visuals, pop-up modals, and content validation.
- A responsive interface suitable for both desktop and mobile consumption.
- Admin functions for managing content (outside scope for this iteration, unless noted).

2. System(s) Impacted

| System/Component | Description |
|----------------------|--|
| Web Hosting Platform | Hosting Service or CMS(e.g. GitHub Pages, Netlify, etc) used to deploy the portfolio. |
| Client Browser | The User's Browsers(Chrome, Safari, Edge etc) used to view and interact with the portfolio |

|------------------------------------|---|
| Embedded Content Services | External Services for Power BI Visuals, embedded Youtube Video links(for Product Demo, Self Introduction Video) |
| Form Handling/Email Service | (Optional)Services such as Formspree or Google Forms if a contact form is included |

Note: No back end database or service side components are currently included; all contents are pre-rendered or static

3. Assumption(s)/Dependencies

Assumptions:

- Users will access the portfolio using modern, JavaScript-enabled browsers.
- All documents (e.g., case studies, certificates) are pre-uploaded and hosted securely.
- No login authentication is required for viewing public-facing content.
- Administrator content changes (if applicable) are done manually or via CMS, not through dynamic admin UI.
- External services (e.g., Power BI, YouTube) remain available and publicly embeddable.

Dependencies:

- Hosting platform remains active and supports static site rendering (e.g., GitHub Pages, Netlify).
- Embedded content services (Power BI, YouTube) do not restrict access or disable embeds.
- Internet connectivity is required for document downloads and streaming embedded media.
- Device and browser compatibility is maintained across major platforms.

4. As-Is Business Process

Currently, there is no centralized digital portfolio that showcases Prabu's professional assets in an interactive or user-driven format.

Stakeholder pain points in the as-is scenario include:

- Sharing resume/CV via static formats (PDF) that lack interactivity.
- Manual sending of case studies, visuals, and certificates on request.
- Difficulty in navigating role-specific highlights for different target audiences (e.g., Product Owner vs Agile Coach).
- No one-click access to visual demonstrations, diagrams, or domain experience narratives.

5. TO-Be Business Process

The implementation of the Prabu Digital Portfolio introduces a modern, centralized platform that empowers users (recruiters, hiring managers, peers) to:

- Seamlessly navigate through landing and role-based pages, tailored to specific career narratives.
- View interactive assets including case studies, Power BI visuals, demo videos, and certificates on demand.
- Experience a responsive, visually engaging interface that adapts across devices and screen sizes.

Allow Prabu to manage updates asynchronously without requiring direct outreach per recruiter.

In the to-be state, this product becomes a 24x7 digital elevator pitch — a living résumé with visuals, stories, and credibility embedded in every page.
